

'I have a long way to go' says Rahul Nath : ThingsAsian

Rahul also takes pride that dancing has always been a big part of his life, but is doing his best to add other talents to himself, so that he is not labeled a one trick pony

"I feel honored that dancing is so integral to my life and that it has opened other doors that I never thought imaginable, like my fitness DVD and the incredible opportunities that I have had like working with Shankar on Hindustani and Rajiv Menon on Kandukondian Kandukondian. There indeed is a responsibility that I have to carry forward, when I have been given such a great gift. However, I don't want to rest under just one talent. I want there to be other facets that I am just as good at," Rahul told us.

"I want people to know me by my work. I feel that's what is important and that is what my efforts are towards," he added.

With his dance career going into orbit, his last two releases working wonders at the box office and becoming the face of well known companies (Intel, Virgin Atlantic and America and Travel Zoo), Rahul has established himself as a talent to reckon with.

Especially in his last two box office wonders, Foreign and Compromise he has pushed the envelope by doing extreme roles like a closeted lover in the former and an abused and raped victim in the latter.

The actor maintains it wasn't a deliberate attempt on his part to play diverse roles, he was lucky enough to get such offers.

"I have always maintained that I have been at the right place at the right time. I have been fortunate enough to work with subjects that spark me and interest me. I came at a time when scripts for actors of my style were being written and I got an opportunity to work with some of the talented co-stars. I attribute it to luck," he said.

As far as his love life is concerned, his single status is becoming a permanent resident for him

"I know it is. But that doesn't mean I hate being in a relationship. It is amazing being in a relationship. It is amazing being in love, but being single is also great. It has its advantages. You get to spend a lot of time with yourself, you get to do things that you probably can't do when being in a relationship, hang out more with your friends, watch more movies, play video games, and do silly boys stuff. So life is good," he said
